HONDO TO HAVE NEW CAFE

Elsewhere in this paper Mr. and Horace E. Schweers of Hondo extend an invitation to the public to attend the formal opening of their new cafe, The Ritz, on Tuesday, May 28th. Refreshments of doughnuts and coffee will be served to callers from 7 to 11 a. m. on that day. At the same time, the cafe will be open for business, serving regular meals,
short orders, coffee and cold soft drinks.

The Ritz is located in the building
recently vacated by Hollmig's Dress shop on Bandera Avenue across from the Hondo Community Center.

The interior has been enlarged and remodeled, the walls, woodwork and furniture being painted a pale gray
color, which gives the place an airy, spacious appearance. The color scheme is completed by chromium
chairs upholstered in red leather.

Accommodations include five booths, five tables, and two long counters with twelve stools. In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Schweers who will manage The Ritz, the cafe has a staff of four helpers, including cook
and waitresses, and is ready to give the public efficient service as well
as good food.

PIONEER BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS

When Mr. M. A. Saathoff opened the doors of the L. A. Haby store at Dunlay Wednesday morning, May 22nd, it marked a change of ownership of one of the oldest business concerns of Medina County. Established by the late Joseph Carle when the railroad was first built, it later passed into the hands of his son-in-law, L. A. Haby, and since his recent death to his sons and heirs. Over the long period in which it has belonged to the family, it has enjoyed an enviable patronage.

Mr. Saathoff, the new proprietor, descendant from a pioneer family, is a young man born and reared in the Quihi-New Fountain community, has every qualification to carry the business in its long and well established tradition of satisfactory service.

HOME FOR THE AGED

the opening of her home for convalescing or old age persons. Experienced practical nurse. Phone 119,

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, at a meeting of the City Council,
held May 16, 1946, I have been advised to issue
a proclamation relative to measures to be taken in this state of emergency caused by the possible
spread of the Polio-like disease, and

Whereas, in the best health interests of the people of our community, some action is necessary,

I hereby request that people do not meet in public gatherings and that young people under twenty-one years of age be prevented from gathering together or congregating in public and private places.

It is deemed advisable that this precautionary
period continue through June 1, 1946.

JOHN A. HORGER, Mayor
City of Hondo

VOICE OF THE CHAMBER

Polio Precautions

The Chamber wants to call to the attention of the people of Hondo the necessity of adhering to the precautionary measures suggested by the City Officials and the Health Unit. This paper has printed these precautions and hand bills
were distributed regarding this matter, so we want to suggest the following of these measures as much as possible. We also wish to remind you of the Mayor's Proclamation—
read this carefully.

Directors Meeting

The directors held their regular monthly meeting this week and laid plans to acquaint this section and county with what Hondo has to offer.

We have reason to be proud of Hondo, but our work shouldn't stop there. We must work together for the further improvement of, and the selling of Hondo to industrial concerns interested in this section of the country.

Monthly Review

Again the time has come around for the Chamber's Monthly Review
which will be in the hands of each member within a few days.

SIX IRRIGATION DAMS PROPOSED

Interested South Texans have launched their final drive upon congress to obtain money to construct the six proposed irrigation dams
up and down the Nueces river and other streams, Mayor Ray Keck of Cotulla announced Saturday.

Keck, president of the Stockmen's
National Bank, and a former San Antonio, was elected mayor of Cotulla two weeks ago. He was in this city celebrating.

Vice-chairman of the Nueces River
Conservation and Reclamation district, Keck said the bureau of reclamation of the Department of Interior at Washington had approved
the six dams and had recommended the appropriations to con-

COMMUNITY CENTER CHATTER

Due to the fact that the center
is closed for an indefinite period
because of the precautionary measures taken against a possible outbreak of Polio, no news could be
"dug up" for this column this week.

However, the Center by closing its doors during this period is backing the request of the Mayor in his proclamation regarding this matter.

"Construction of these dams will assure development of thousands of acres of ranchland into thriving farms right in San Antonio's trade territory, and we expect 100,000
new residents will be attracted to the 23 counties which will benefit from this program.

$100,000 SPENT

"The San Antonio chamber of commerce has promised help"
Keck said more than $100,000
had been spent in recent years on engineering, and that congress would be approached to make appropriations from many directions, for reclamation of territory, soil conservation, irrigation of virgin land.

The reclamation bureau is convinced
the program is "good business"
on a national benefits-and-returns
basis.

The No. 1 project is at Cotulla,
the dam has been designed, and irrigation layout perfected, Keck asserted.

AFFECTS FOUR RIVERS

It is proposed that two dams be built on the Nueces river, one at Cotulla, the other at Tom Nunn hill near Uvalde, two on the Frio, at Fowlerton and Concan, one on the Hondo at Hondo, and one at Sabinal
on the creek of that name.

An area 250 miles long and 100 miles wide would be served by the dams, Keck said, but no rancher
would be forced to irrigate his land
if he preferred to continue in the dry ranching business.

Cost of water for irrigation would run from $3.50 to $5.50 per acre per year, and if a farmer desired as much as four feet of water per year on each acre, that will be provided for, on the 40-year setup, the official said.—San Antonio Light.

PRESIDENT BIDS ADIEU TO HONDO B&PW CLUB

At the regular monthly meeting of the Hondo Business and Professional Women's Club Tuesday night
in the Community Center, the first president of the club, Miss Lucille Newton, bid farewell to the members, thanking them for their co-operation in guiding the organization
through its infancy and asking for continued loyalty to her successor.
Miss Newton is leaving Sunday on a six-weeks vacation and will not be present at the annual meeting to be held in June. Mrs. Homer Wilson, vice-president, will serve as president pro-tem and new officers of the club will be elected in June.

The Nominating Committee elected Tuesday night includes Mrs.
Christine R. Mayberry, chairman,
Mrs. Marguerite Murrill and Mrs.
Earl Starnes.

The Library, sponsored by the Club, is closed for the duration of the ban on gatherings in Hondo and the consequent closing of the Community Center. When the Center reopens, possibly the first of June, the Library will resume operation under a new schedule. Instead of being open two days a week, the Library will be available to the reading public one night a week only, on Friday nights from 7 to 9 p. m. Mrs. Bill
Wood will serve as librarian the first Friday the library opens, followed by Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. O. B.
Taylor and Mrs. Earl Starnes each subsequent Friday.

Following the business meeting,
Mrs. E. G. Pope and Miss Lucille Newton, hostesses, served refreshments of chicken salad, crackers, and cakes.

June hostesses will be Mrs. Felix
Richter and Mrs. A. H. Rothe.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT NOTES

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following statements and suggestions concerning the control and prevention of poliomyelitis which is now occurring
in certain portions of the State.

Until recently it was generally believed that this infection is transmitted by means of discharges from the respiratory tract. It is now believed that poliomyelitis may be another of the several gastrointestinal infections. Therefore, control measures must include clean-up campaigns and improvements in sanitation.

Strict sanitary measures must be observed in all communities. Stringent efforts should be made to eliminate the house-fly and to destroy its breeding places. All mosquitoes and mosquito breeding places must be eliminated at once. Every effort should be made to institute approved garbage collection systems immediately. Safe water supplies must be assured. Where adequate municipal sewage disposal systems
are not in operation, it is vitally important to promote and maintain sanitary septic tanks and outdoor privies.

All swimming pools should, under rigid supervision, maintain those standards approved by the Texas State Department of Health. This necessarily includes maintenance of proper chlorine level. Where such standards are not maintained, those pools should be closed immediately.

All raw foods and vegetables
should be washed thoroughly before use and protected from flies, filth and insects. All eating and food handling establishments should adhere strictly to the State Law
concerning the sterilization of dishes and utensils. Those restaurants with insufficient personnel to maintain approved sanitation should close one or two hours a day so that employees can assist in maintaining cleanliness and high sanitary standards.

Every effort should be made to secure approved milk. Rats and mice should be eliminated. Maintain in the home the same sanitary standards that are necessary in community life. Particular attention should be paid to personal hygiene. Excreta from cases and contacts should be handled and disinfected with the same scrupulous care as in typhoid fever or bacillary dysentery.

Over-exertion in children should be avoided. Children should not visit homes where there is illness. Polio cases should be quarantined for 14 days and adults who work in food establishments should be particularly instructed in personal hygiene.
It is advisable to reduce to a minimum all human contacts, especially in children during an outbreak of this disease. It is not advocated that schools, churches, and theaters be closed.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis are headache, fever, vomiting,
drowsiness, followed by stiffness in the neck and back. When suspicious symptoms appear, a physician should be called immediately.

BOARD OF EDUCATION TO MEET

The Medina County Board of Education will meet May 31st, at 2 o'clock P. M., in regular session to classify all schools. Any change of present classifications should be made known to your County Superintendent prior to above date.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

To see anything good in this era where everybody is unhappy—but with a pocket full of mazuma—you got to be a
blown-in-the-bottle optimist.
But there is one gleam that will make almost anybody blink.
It is 30 Governors getting into bed together—18 republicans and twelve democrats. Anything can happen from now on. These 30 are demanding that the Govt.
live within its means.

And to be as helpful as we can every person, when he sees a Government "frill" that could be dispensed with, he should tell the Governor—or even drop a note to Uncle Harry. And to start off the "useless frill campaign" I will report on the BLS
—the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The BLS after years of delving, reports that if you choose a move to, say Buffalo
from Indianapolis that you can save 8 per cent in rent. But when you get to Buffalo you find clothing costing 8 per cent more than in Indianapolis. And when you get moved it is your baby to find yourself a job—
not the BLS. Also it says maybe you will have trouble finding a vacant house in Buffalo.

And all around there are goings on—like the State Dept.
sending potters to Japan to show 'em how to make dishes as good as ours. And after they learn how, we can close our plants—and go on relief, or something.

So folks, if your governor is not one of the 30 ask him now
to come.

JOE SERRA

IF POLIO STRIKES

What can we do to prevent infantile paralysis?

The answer is: Practically nothing!
Very little is known about the disease. We know the cause—a virus—but not the cure. We know that it is communicable, that many persons may harbour the virus without presenting any clinical symptoms of the disease.

Certain precautions, however, are recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

If polio strikes, the Foundation
urges, continue with normal activities. Schools, theatres and other places of congregation can remain
open at the discretion of the health authorities, but unnecessary mingling with crowds should be avoided.

Extreme fatigue, sudden and prolonged chilling make the individual
an easier victim. Swimming in polluted waters and removal of tonsils
during epidemics should be avoided.
Flies and other insects should be kept away from food. Sanitation is a "must."

The first symptom of poliomyelitis may be some minor discomfort:
headache, unexplained fever, a cold,
even an upset stomach. If any of these appear, a physician should be called immediately. Expert medical care may prevent crippling deforma-ties.

Above all, the Foundation adds,
don't worry about expense. Foundation chapters are pledged to see that no victim of infantile paralysis goes without care and treatment for lack of funds, regardless of age, race,
creed or color.

When a case appears, be sure that the nearest Foundation chapter is notified.

The National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis, Inc., asks us to print the foregoing as issued by them
and are authority for its statements.
This paper gladly complies for whatever good it may do humanity.

LIONS DISCUSS SOIL CONSERVATION

Soil conservation was again featured at the regular Wednesday
Lions Club meeting. A sound movie was shown depicting the farm practices necessary for maintaining fertility and high production.

This was the second of three meetings devoted to soil conservation.

Rev. M. J. Loring spoke briefly of the Lions Convention held last week in San Angelo. John McAnelly and Edgar Stiegler also said a few words about the convention.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

CIO LEADERS MANEUVER TO OUST COMMUNISTS

WASHINGTON. — The epochal movement within leftwing labor to shake off the Communists is being quietly helped by the White House. What is behind it can now be set forth as follows:

Since Mr. Byrnes firmed his back against further Russian encroachments in world affairs, the more radical CIO-PAC crowd has been arousing criticism against President Truman and the administration . . . or was until lately. Statements and speeches from the southpaw people took the Moscow line on pending international issues, adhering to the same technique as when a union picketed the White House to call Mr. Roosevelt a war monger for helping Britain before Russia was invaded, and more recently when the state department was picketed by a union urging ouster of Mr. Byrnes for opposing Russia.

The latest rousing of criticism got under Mr. Truman's skin, as well as some very big union labor hide. Important labor leadership immediately became involved in an internal conflict, the ramifications of which have not yet been disclosed. The CIO-PAC director, Sidney Hillman, has been conspicuously laying low, while some unions in CIO have been taking steps to revise their constitutions to bar Communists from office and membership. Hillman has close relations with the American Labor party in New York, for whom the Communists have been the most active doorbell ringers and vote-fixers. Apparently this element of labor hates to lose its Communist schemers with an election campaign in the offing.

MURRAY 'TIRED OF IT'

But CIO Pres. Phil Murray is reported getting tired of Communist use by CIO-PAC, or what might more accurately be called Russian use of them for international policy purposes. Some labor authorities report him cool toward Hillman, suggest Hillman may be replaced as head of CIO-PAC or predict a showdown between Murray and Hillman.

Regardless of these reports, any level eye can plainly see Mr. Hillman is caught in an enigmatic whirlwind. If he lets the Communists go, he may lose his organization; if he keeps them, the organization may crack.

I would not be surprised if the White House aided in the cracking, strange as this may sound. Latest appointments of an undersecretary and three assistants in the labor department went the AFL way. CIO has one labor undersecretary and is pressuring Truman through him. The latest appointments, however, have been followed by reports that AFL no longer intends to split administration patronage with CIO on an equal basis, but will see what it can get for itself.

Then AFL is going into the south to organize unions on the greatest scope of opposition it has yet presented. CIO plans in the south are supposed to call for 200 experienced organizers working under leadership of the Textile Workers union, men who have been trained in the Hillman school of action. In competition with this activity, AFL is planning an even greater organizing campaign in the south, and the catch-all district 50 of John L. Lewis has marked out an anti-CIO organizing campaign to get in all the loose unions otherwise unclassifiable in AFL.

INTENSE RIVALRY COMING

Thus an intense organizational rivalry is springing up which may reach its bitterest proportions in the fields of textiles, telephones, chemicals and plastics. I say these are apt to be the sharpest fields because few observers expect the rivalry in the south to be of great industrial consequence. In the first place, there is not much industry in the south which is not already organized one way or another. The field there at least is limited by comparison with the greater industrial sections of the country. Southern organizing, especially the CIO-PAC kind, is apt to cover political activity (ousting of southern congressmen and senators who have resisted labor legislation) rather than develop any great new numbers for the unions.

Out of this high pressured situation, observers are commonly predicting a new wave of many hundreds of small jurisdictional strikes during coming months, and a period of exceptional labor unrest.

I want to find the man who changed UNO to UN.

UNO is a collection of letters in euphonious order conveying the thought of unity. It is not cumbersome. It is accurate for the "United Nations organization."

UN is negative. Alone it cannot be pronounced except as an enigmatic grunt. And, as it signifies the opposite of what the United Nations organization stands for, the mystery surrounding its origin may be worth perusing by authorities who have greater facilities than I.

Huge Profits Found in Black Markets

Truman Urges South American Nations to Join Defense Plan; Loophole Caused Alcatraz Riot

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

BLACK MARKETS:

Huge Profits

Indicative of the huge profits being made in the black market, the Chicago district collector of internal revenue disclosed that approximately four million dollars in delinquent income taxes have been paid by black marketeers since March 15. Payments of two illegal operators totaled one million dollars each.

Because the treasury is concerned with the collection of taxes that are due rather than in the legality of the source of income, black marketeers may escape prosecution if the revenue bureau has not opened investigation of their cases.

Meanwhile, reports from Washington, D. C., indicated that the department of justice plans an all-out attack on the black market, with Att. Gen. Tom Clark holding that the best means of throttling illegal operators is by nailing them on tax evasions. At the same time, OPA has doubled its enforcement staff to 850 and is receiving FBI aid in assaulting the black market in meat.

PAN-AMERICA:

Defense Plan

In asking congress to authorize U. S. training, organization and equipment of South American countries, President Truman declared that such aid would enable them to participate in hemispheric security as envisaged in the charter of Chapultepec. As the strongest Pan-American nation, it is natural for the U. S. to assume defensive leadership, he said.

As precedent for close U. S. and Pan - American military relations, Mr. Truman pointed out that this country has collaborated with other hemisphere republics for several years within the framework of the good neighbor policy. Military and naval training missions have been sent south of the border and limited supplies were lend-leased during the war.

Implementation of the program would not result in an arms race or materially increase the level of armaments in South America since this country would not countenance uncontrolled distribution of munitions, the President said.

COAL STRIKE:

Congress Stirred

Congressional clamor for restrictive labor legislation mounted as the soft coal strike continued after the breakdown of initial efforts to bring the United Mine Workers and operators together and government seizure of the properties loomed.

Having consulted with the UMW's 250-man policy committee, John L. Lewis stuck by his demands that the negotiators first discuss a health and welfare fund before considering wage and safety issues. Reiteration of the UMW demands followed federal conciliator Paul W. Fuller's attempt to break the deadlock in the parleys and get the miners back into pits while a new contract was being drawn.

As the strike dragged on and dwindling fuel supplies slowly crimped industry, utilities and transportation, Senator Knowland (Rep., Calif.) demanded early consideration of labor disputes legislation if the deadlock was not resolved. Seeking to forestall restrictive measures, Senator Barkley (Dem., Ky.) administration floor leader, cautioned against hasty action just because congress "is mad at somebody," meaning Lewis.

Lewis is tough labor leader.

ALCATRAZ:

Prison Flaw

Designed to house the nation's most incorrigible convicts, the prison cells at Alcatraz possessed one small—very small—loophole which permitted a scheming and wiry desperado to attempt the sensational jail-break that resulted in the death of 5 and wounding of 15.

Atop a tier of cells in Cell Block C runs a gun gallery for guards with the horizontal bars enclosing it 5 inches apart but the cross-bars 18 inches apart. While in the cell block on prison duty, wiry, little Bernard Paul Coy, Louisville, Ky., bank robber, spied the spacing and figured that he could wriggle through if he could only bend the horizontal bars.

When released for cleaning duty in the cell block the first day of the break, Coy watched until the guard passed on his rounds and then clambered up to the gun gallery like a monkey. Equipped with a "spreader" devised from odd pieces of pipe, Coy managed to bend the horizontal bars enough to wriggle into the gallery, where he waited until Guard Bert Burch appeared. Slugging him with his "spreader," Coy then took his coat and keys and a .20.06 Springfield rifle, with 50 cartridges; a .45 caliber automatic pistol, with 21 cartridges, and several gas "billsies." It was with these weapons that the desperadoes held out after being released from their cells with the captured keys.

ARABS:

United Front

Reacting quickly to an Anglo-American commission report that 100,000 Jews be admitted immediately into Palestine and allowed to reside there on even terms with the Arabs, the entire Arab world united into a single front to resist implementation of the recommendation. Complicating the situation for the U. S. was Ibn Saud's alignment of Saudi Arabia into the Arab camp since long cultivation of this powerful monarch resulted in development of friendly relations between the two countries and U. S. acquisition of valuable petroleum concessions. By taking his stand beside the Arab league of the near east, embracing 33 million Arabs, Ibn Saud could wield potent influence in negotiations with the U. S. and British over Palestine.

Native Christians as well as Moslems joined in protest against the admission of 100,000 Jewish refugees into the Holy Land. In protests to King George VI of England, Pope Pius, Premier Stalin, Generalissimo Kai-shek and President Gouin of France, Arab Catholics declared that enforcement of the commission recommendations would result in crowding of Arabs from Palestine.

FRANCE:

To the Right

Though greatly strengthened by France's rejection of the proposed new constitution supported by the leftists, the rightist Popular Republican Movement (MRP) pledged to remain in the coalition government so that the country's representatives at the foreign ministers meeting in Paris would enjoy united backing in the diplomatic negotiations.

The popular vote on the constitutional issue came at a time when French delegates to the Paris conference pressed their claims to parts of the Italian border and demanded an arrangement for controlling the vital Ruhr and Rhineland to prevent the rebirth of German militarism and threat of future aggression.

As a result of the rejection of the proposed constitution, elections will have to be held June 2 for the selection of another constituent assembly to frame a new charter.

FOREIGN MINISTERS:

enemy countries, worked feverishly on Italian and Balkan problems in an attempt to avert a deadlock which would further aggravate the economic disorganization of the continent.

While there were indications when the foreign ministers first met that the troublesome question of Trieste would be settled between Italy and Yugoslavia along racial lines, Molotov of Russia balked at the proposal. In seeking to have the strategic port and its surrounding area turned over to Soviet-sponsored Tito of Yugoslavia, Molotov offered to halve Russian reparation claims against Italy and relinquish demands for a trusteeship over Tripolitania in North Africa astride Britain's Mediterranean lifeline.

Quick to reject Molotov's offer, the U. S. and Britain asserted no Italian government could sign a peace treaty giving away predominantly Italian Trieste, and Russia possessed no title to Tripolitania and could not consider the colony as its own for bartering.

WASHINGTON DIGEST

Columnist's Thoughts Turn To Squirrels

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Summer was creeping toward the Potomac, the flag over the White House hung limp as a wilted petal, a hot sun, burning through the infrequent gaps in the heavy foliage, made yellow patches on the lawn. The fountain splashed faintly, falling like warm, futile tears.

I moved slowly along the drive, wondering if I could garner even a modicum of answers to meet emptiness left by the thousands of unanswered questions the world is asking.

I looked under the Japanese oaks whose tightly laced leaves, only a little above the ground, smother the young grass, hopefully starting up each spring, withering in the shadows before July. There, bored and half asleep, I could make out the form of the old gray squirrel.

Often this winter, he had come to my rescue when other "dependable sources" and "authoritative quarters" refused to yield up their secrets. But this time, he barely nodded, and looked away, deep in his meditations, probably a nuclear problem of some sort.

A few moments later, I was taking down notes at a not very newsworthy press and radio conference. The President, I feared, did not feel as cheerful as he looked. The handkerchief in his breast pocket was neatly folded in its customary three flat, razor-sharp triangles. (Sometimes his answers were almost as sharp.) The great red carnations on the table behind his desk, which holds the photographs of members of his family, were already drooping. The low hum of the mowing machine came in the open windows that look toward the Potomac.

Of what was said of import to the nation and the world, you will have read by the time these lines are printed. The rest was trivia.

We walked out of the executive offices. I glanced under the Japanese oaks, but my friend, the squirrel, had gone, the vista looked very bare and cheerless. So I went back and talked about it.

As soon as mail could reach me from Sturgeon Lake, Minn., I received a letter and a package. The writer said that as I had mentioned that it seemed impossible to raise grass on the shaded parts of the White House grounds, I might be interested in this sample of quack grass which she offered, and she wrote: "If it won't grow there, I'll be glad to know there is some place it won't grow."

The next day, I acknowledged the gift, and opined that quack grass must be another name for crabgrass which I remembered as the bane of my lawn-mowing experience. Soon I received other communications.

A landscape designer in Akron, Ohio, informed me that "quack grass is not crabgrass. The former is a perennial; the latter is an annual. Quack grass (agropyron repens) propagates by seeds and creeping rootstalks. Crabgrass re-seeds itself each year."

Baukhage consults the old gray squirrel.

Another letter came from Robert L. ("Pop") Davis, "Amateur Mulch Gardener" of Thorsby, Ala. He referred to my mention of crabgrass as a pest, and then he went on:

"Having spent years at my hobby of looking for the most useful plant for growing summer mulch in my gardens, and deciding that crabgrass was it, I cannot resist a challenge. Even though millions of gardeners agree with your remarks, I still challenge them. At present, I have a spring garden growing without any hoeing on land covered with a thick layer of last year's dead crabgrass.

"Scarcely a weed can grow through it, not even this year's crabgrass.

"You see, I am 'Pop,' the laziest gardener in the world, and I refuse to gather, haul and spread mulch when crabgrass will do it for me, and do a better job of it. I make it mulch the land for me by leaving it strictly alone. I may even encourage it with fertilizer. After I have gathered my early spring vegetables, I let the crabgrass take over. In early fall, when the crabgrass stops growing here, I mow it down. I then have that mulch gardener's delight, a mellow mulchy spot where most anything can grow without using spade or hoe. I use a potato digger to dig planting holes."

But that is not all. "Pop" may be the laziest gardener in the world, but he is a vigorous poet. He enclosed a poem of which (alas) I have room only for one verse and refrain. Here it is:

"Bring me a hoe; pull 'em all up!
Chick weed, crabgrass, dig and cut!

Stoop down low! Nothing but trash,
Goosefoot, pigweed and Johnstons grass;

Just no time to look at the sky,
Fleecy clouds a-floating by;
Work 'til you've such a crook in the back

That gardening pleasure's gone, a-lack!

"Wisdom may have a foolish sound;
Crabgrass mulch is good for the ground,
Let the weeds grow! Bring me a chair!

Crabgrass mulch is everywhere,
Soft and thick and brown."

Flame Cultivator Is Used To Hoe Weeds from Cotton

COVINGTON, TENN. — A revolutionary "flame cultivator" has been produced in TVA workshops and is being demonstrated by W. C. Harris, who is trying to grow 50 acres of cotton without the use of hand labor.

The flame cultivator, which uses butane fuel, is similar to the burner used by railroads to destroy weeds along the tracks. The farm model, however, is mounted on a tractor. Three feet or sleds ride on the ground to support the cultivator and keep the burners at the level desired.

Taking two rows at a time, four burners barely skim the ground, a burner on both sides of each row.

"The flame cultivator has been in use in the Mississippi delta for some time," Harold B. Jones reported. "Tests there have proved the cultivator will clean the weeds from an acre of cotton at a cost of four cents per acre.

"The flame cultivator has a capacity of 20 acres per day. The model shown is a two-row model and is the model which will accomplish this 20-acre per day cultivation."

"How do you keep from burning the cotton?" was the question asked by several observers.

"The flame cultivator is not used until the cotton is from 6 to 8 inches high and 3/16 of an inch in diameter. The cotton is tough enough then to withstand the heat for the short time it is exposed to it," answered Mr. Jones.

The demonstration in the Covington area is the first in the state of Tennessee.

Household Hints

Cuffs and collars of shirts will require little or no extra rubbing, if soap is rubbed into the badly-soiled areas before the shirt is washed.

It is a good idea to empty the vacuum cleaner bag every time it is used. Never wash the fabric, but loosen dirt adherences by slapping the side of the bag with a paddle.

Liquid floor waxes give a better surface if a thin coat of paste wax is first applied.

Sheer cotton garments, unless they have a permanent finish, look better if given a light starching.

To keep draperies from wrinkling when storing them, fold lengthwise and hang over the horizontal bar of a coat hanger that has been padded with paper.

Spotlight

by GRANTLAND RICE

A HUMAN tidal wave, headed for almost any sort of sporting competition, has struck baseball in a record sweep. All past records are being submerged in the way of attendance figures, even on the part of those teams who are conceded nothing better than sixth place.

It would not be surprising to see the newly bedecked Yankee stadium, under the operation of Larry MacPhail, crowd the two million mark before October reports. The Yankees are practically sure to set an all-time count at the busy turnstiles, with the Tigers not too far away. The Cubs and the Dodgers also should surpass their best year, with many thousands added to the list.

A sporting crowd is willing to take a heavier beating than any other section of the human race. All these frenzied multitudes ask is a chance to buy a ticket, then let nature take its course. These crowds make the sardine look like a rover in the wide-open spaces, with room to spare.

The Kentucky Derby set a new high in several directions. So probably will the Louis-Con intermingling at the Yankee stadium in June.

The Rush to Sport

We have been asked to explain this overwhelming rush to sport. After all, we have few who can match in ability and color the headliners of the Golden Age following the First World war. I am referring again to Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Bobby Jones, Sam o' War, Bill Tilden, Tommy Hitchcock, Devereux Milburn, Walter Hagen, Rogers Hornsby, Earl Sande and Red Grange. We have no such galaxy of famous names with which to conjure, although DiMaggio, Williams, Nelson, Hogan, Arcaro, Blanchard, Davis and a few others may be just as good.

It may be that the glamour of past years takes on too keen a hue and glint. But that Golden Age of Sport produced a pretty fair collection of talent and color. No such talent has been proved in this present postwar era up to date, but it may happen later.

It may be that the coming season in various sports will give us champions that can match the Old Guard of the lost and golden era. We don't believe so. But we know that sport will give us greater crowds than ever were known in the past.

We know that there will be more money than ever before wagered on the races through the mutuels and the bookmakers — a total surpassing 2 billion dollars. New York alone will pass 500 million through the mutuels.

In this era of peace following the blackness of the world's greatest war, there are two details that make this possible: (1) the reach for release — the excuse for taut nerves and (2) more widespread cash than this country has ever known previously. It is the same in England, even more so. This is no knock against the human race. It is only a natural reaction, even if it isn't the wisest and the sanest reaction. When was the human race ever sane or wise?

Some Big Questions

The season will soon begin to unroll a number of answers to various important questions.

No. 1. How will the Yankee pitching staff make out? Will it be consistently good enough to be even fairly close to the pitching strength of Tigers, Red Sox or Indians? Or the Senators?

No. 2. Can the Tiger infield hold up well enough to give Steve O'Neill's crack pitching staff the chance to win again?

No. 3. Can Leo Durocher find enough pitching to keep his Dodgers up with the Cardinals and Cubs? Especially the Cubs.

No. 4. How far will the Cardinals be in front by the first of August?

No. 5. Will the Giants' somewhat jittery defensive play crowd Mel Ott's team out of the first division?

No. 6. What about the season's impending pitching duel between Bob Feller and Al Newhouser?

No. 7. Also the A. L.'s all around batting championship among Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Dick Wakefield?

No. 8. How many home runs can Hank Greenberg deliver to offset the natural and expected deficit in foot speed?

No. 9. To what ball clubs are a few of the Cardinals' pitching surplus headed?

No. 10. How will Pesky and Doerr of the Red Sox compare with Rizzuto and Gordon of the Yankees?

No. 11. What are the odds on either Phillies or Athletics leaving the ancient and moldy cellar?

No. 12. How will the old New York - Boston argument concerning the all-around ability of Joe Gordon and Bobby Doerr work out?

No. 13. How far up will Billy Southworth be able to lift the Braves in his first Boston season?

Kathleen Norris Says:

Companionship Doesn't Just Happen

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Truly, a girl of 19 may have a wonderful companionship with a man of 38, even as his wife. But only when he can pet her, spoil her, treat her as a doll."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

ONE of the richest blessings life can win any one of us is companionship. Never underestimate it. No matter how burdened your life is with duties, responsibilities, interruptions, distractions, financial and domestic worries, don't complain as long as you have someone with whom you can share them.

Certain professional and business women are enormously successful. Some of them are rich. But if life hasn't brought them companionship they have nothing worth having, and they know it. They go in for nervous disorders, for bitterness, for strange extravagances. They keep reaching blindly about for the precious, the inestimable treasure that is companionship with some other human soul, and they never find it. They cannot find it. They have destroyed the secret of possessing it, of winning it.

Yes, I used the word "winning" in this connection, because a part of that secret of companionship is that it never comes ready-made. You have to work for it, to preserve it.

That's why letters like this one from "Francoline" are so pathetic in their innocence and so sad in their certainty of disappointment.

"Francoline" is 19; she is going to be married. This is part of her letter:

"Mother objects to Paul. He is just twice my age; not that 38 is old for marriage, but mother thinks it's old for the man who wants to become my husband. He has been married before, and he says he has learned consideration the hard way. He has two boys, aged 10 and 8, and he adores them, and so do I. Their mother has moved away and left them here in school.

"Complete Sympathy."

"We will not have much money, and that worries mother. I tell her I am not marrying Paul for money. I am marrying because of the complete sympathy there is between us. We laugh at the same things, we like the same shows, we love to plan what we will do someday when we are rich. Our feeling for each other is based on something much deeper than a mere 'crush,' and we have known each other ever since Paul was in college and I was born.

"You feel, and you've often said," the letter concludes, "that companionship is the real base of a happy marriage. We are sure of it. I am not taking Paul away from his wife; except for her monthly allowance check he has no correspondence with her at all. He says he never has really loved before; I know I never have, and that I never will again. I feel much more capable of giving advice about marriage than accepting it, but I would like to know if you don't think this may be a successful marriage?"

Francoline is 19, but she sounds younger. She sounds about 12. She is revelling in her first rapture of young love, a time of dreams and delusions—beautiful, inevitable, but pitiful, too. It is Paul that I blame for this situation; Paul, who has for this situation; a divorced wife, and two boys, and Francoline's age.

My answer is: certainly you may make a success of this marriage. There is no marriage that may not be turned into a success. A strong,

Lots of crying details will have to be settled before you can come to companionship with your husband, Francoline. This particular setup doesn't seem to promise much hope of their settlement.

HEADED FOR MISERY

A woman with a powerful personality can make a success of any marriage, says Miss Norris in today's article. Such women are rare, however, she goes on. The 19-year-old girl who asks for advice in the letter quoted does not seem to be one of them.

Francoline is madly in love with a man 38 years old. He has been married before, but is divorced. The two sons, 8 and 10 years old, are in his care. What Francoline finds in Paul is a deep companionship; a similarity of tastes and ideals. This is the first time she has ever been in love. Francoline says. Paul claims that he is feeling the tender passion for the first time, too, and that he never really loved his wife.

Miss Norris cautions Francoline that she is headed for a lot of shocks and disillusionment if she enters this marriage. There just isn't the proper basis for a happy marriage here. A young woman must give up too many pleasures that are normal at her age; she must put up with too many difficulties. In this particular case, the children, the former wife, the earning power of the husband, all present problems that will probably grow worse as time advances.

self-controlled, sensible woman may marry any man she pleases and win through all the dangers and whirlpools and pitfalls of matrimony to a serene and happy middle age. But possibly Francoline hasn't the necessary qualities to get into that class.

Many Sacrifices Ahead.

The responsibility of supporting another woman and two boys does not grow easier as the months of marriage turn themselves into years. Francoline will have to make many sacrifices, will have to be ready for grave decisions.

The shortage of money will cramp her from the first, and unless she is of a really generous nature, she will resent that constant drain on Paul's resources; one boy will need dental work, another may come home for long nursing after an illness. Paul may crush her by hinting that as he already has children he is none too eager to welcome more.

This marriage robs her of the dancing, the house parties, the new frocks and new friendships that are natural at her age. It means that she grows mature before her time. Truly, a girl of 19 may have a wonderful companionship with a man of 38, even as his wife. But only when he can pet her, spoil her, treat her as a doll. To Francoline none of these pleasant flattering things will come. She will be at once the second wife, stepmother, housekeeper, cook and manager in the house of this much older man. If there is any spoiling done she will have to do it; if there are any concessions, she will have to make them.

Lots of crying details will have to be settled before you can come to companionship with your husband, Francoline. This particular setup doesn't seem to promise much hope of their settlement.

Colder Winters Ahead

Cooler weather with old-fashioned winters like grandpop used to know are returning, the United States Weather bureau says. Weather trends come in 50-year cycles, it explains, and for the past half century we have been moving away from the winters in which folks had to dig through the snowdrifts to locate clothespoles.

Now will come a slow move back to the days when grandpop often walked into the second story of the old farm right from the snow level.

"And a good thing it will be to toughen up the citizenry," declared Elmer Twitchell today. "We've been getting soft in sissy-like winters when the folks thought a blizzard was any snowfall that kept a limousine down to 40 miles an hour in open country. 'Blizzard Sweeps City' has been the routine headline every time a snowdrift got halfway up a milk bottle on the windward porch."

"What's become of the old fashioned fellow who had three fingers missing from the deep freezes? Where's the native one common to every community who got around on a wooden leg most of his life because of exposure in an icepack in his own back yard? Where are the countless folks who went around all their lives with tender ears and noses because of frostbite in their early days?"

"When I was a boy," he continued, "you had to face the house southward or you'd get four or five loads of snow in the bedroom right through a door crack. It was nothing to have a fire freeze up over night. Once every winter they had to get a snowplow to dig me out of bed . . . and I slept in the attic!"

"Big cities get out super-plows to fight a snowstorm that old-timers would tackle with a whiskbroom, and without bothering to put on anything but a pair of pants and an open shirt."

"Let the old-fashioned winters come back for the good of the race!" he concluded. "There will be less squawkin' about minor inconveniences."

Feltman's famous restaurant at Coney Island, in existence for 72 years and known to millions, is changing hands. We link the old place up with our first visit to the big city. How it dazzled us with its city-block dimensions, its dozen separate restaurants and its several bars. And how we thought we were splurging when we went there for a full course dinner for $1.25! With beer 5 cents a schooner! And cocktails two for a quarter!

The Hobos of America have voted to hold their 1947 convention in Miami, because the cities usually chosen are too cold in the spring. In this announcement you have a reflection of the American mood these days. A bum used to be willing to take his fun where he could find it, and always convenience of locale and economic considerations counted most. But now the climate must be right regardless of traveling distance and general expenses. The modern hobo refuses to loaf except near the Gulf Stream and he prefers to get there by plane.

baby, who spent the day with Mrs.

Word reached relatives in Medina County last week that Joe Frey, former Castroville citizen, but for some years a resident of El Paso, had been killed in an auto accident. He was an older brother of George Frey of Dunlay. We have no details of the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schueneman and Mrs. Annie Zunker of San Antonio spent Tuesday here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Zunker. Mrs.
Schueneman and Mrs. Annie Zunker are sister and mother respectively of Mr. Zunker, who is employed at the Hondo Ice Company.

Miss Dorothy Ney, Junior at In-

over night on May 12th was a classmate, Miss Jane Laflin.

Mr. Arnold Zerr has recently purchased the J. T. Smith homestead
from the Smith heirs and will begin remodeling and repairing next week.
When completed Mr. Zerr will bring his family over from D'Hanis to make their permanent home.

return to her home in San Antonio

Jerry F. Smith, veteran bee man, reports a good spring honey flow
from his apiaries. A new experience to him this week was the removing of a few hives from town to the country before the DDT spraying to avoid possible injury to them. Since a few strays left behind are still active since the spraying, he feels that his labor may have been needless. However, precaution pays in the feeling of safety.

VANDALISM AND CAR THEFT KEEP PEACE OFFICERS BUSY

The Sheriff's department has been busy this week hunting clues growing out of the sacking of the Hondo
High School building and the theft of an automobile, both events occurring Monday night. George Koch's car was stolen about dusk when he stopped in front of his mother-in-law's, Mrs. George Leinweber's home and went in momentarily to get his children to take them home. The car was missed at once and the authorities notified. To date, however, no trace of the missing car has been found.

During the night vandals gained entrance into the school building by breaking the glass in the back door.
The Sheriff reported nothing stolen,
but the culprits despoiled furniture
and equipment in the home economies department and administrative offices. The damage done in the pillaging will amount to several hundred dollars, Sheriff Fusselman said.
Numerous fingerprints were found in the wake of the vandals by Deputy Charles Hitzfelder, fingerprint expert for the local Sheriff's department, but so far there are no suspects.

At first Thad was mighty unmaking polite conversation with

"I suppose," says Milly slyly,

"Sissy drink!" says Thad emphati-

Beer's a man's drink!"

BRIGHTER WORLD FOR U.S. DOGS, TOO, PLANNED FOR END OF WAR

View of Ridgefield, Conn., research kennels of the Gaines Dog Research Center. Left: Closeup of exercise courts used in experimental work in the care of dogs.

A brighter post-war world for America's 15,000,000 dogs appeared today as the result of plans announced by the Gaines Dog Research Center.

The Center is a research and educational institution devoted to furthering the welfare of the dog with its principal office at 250 Park Avenue, New York City, and extensive research kennels at Ridgefield, Connecticut. Aside from studies in nutrition and genetics and experiments in the management and care of dogs intended to be helpful to both dog and owner carried on by its own staff, the Center cooperates in dog research work carried on by various private and public educational institutions and experiment stations throughout the country.

W. E. Armstrong

Chief among the projects planned for after the war is an educational exhibit dealing with the origin and function of the various breeds of dogs. For this purpose the central building of the Research Kennels at Ridgefield will probably be used, while the surrounding grounds may be developed into a dog zoological garden in which it is hoped to make available to public view prize specimens of all 167 known dog breeds in the world.

Other contemplated research projects include the creation of standards of perfection for each breed of dog and development of a medium-size, all-weather, super-intelligent farm dog who would be herd-dog, guard-dog and companion-dog in one. The need for such an animal has long been felt in rural areas.

Managing Director of the Gaines Dog Research Center is W. E. Armstrong, well known figure in dog circles throughout the nation, while the Executive Secretary is Harry Miller, dog publicist who was formerly editor of the national magazine "Dogs." For the past two years Mr. Miller has also served as secretary of National Dog Week.

FIRST THREE LESSONS IN DOG TRAINING

Whether your dog is a joy or a nuisance to you and your friends depends largely on one thing—his training. states the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City. The better trained he is, the more valuable and useful he will be. A well-trained dog is more than worth all the effort and patience put into his training.

Actually, a dog is infinitely easier to train than a child. You will succeed best if you keep certain things constantly in mind. A dog is not a human and must never be judged as such. Words to him are not words but simply sounds which, after much repetition, he comes to associate with certain actions desired of him. If the words are associated with a characteristic gesture, all the better. Words spoken to him loudly or in anger only serve to confuse him. A dog should never be punished unless he is made to understand what he is being punished for, and punishment should follow immediately after his misdeed. A dog's training should be handled by only one person, and if he has been properly trained, he will go through the motions for anyone who gives the commands properly.

Below are the first three lessons in obedience every dog must learn if he is to live in civilized society. He must come to you whenever you call him, no matter what else he may want to do at that particular time. He must learn to "heel," that is, walk or trot quietly at your side whenever you are out with him—not run ahead or behind you, trip you up, or get into a fight with another dog. And he must learn to sit or lie down when you stop in the street to greet a friend or pay a visit to a neighbor. The principles in these lessons are applicable to almost anything else you might like to teach your dog. For a list of recommended literature on dog training write to the Gaines Dog Research Center, 250 Park Avenue, New York.

"COME!" Fasten a long string to his collar and let him run at will.

See Better Dogs In Artificial Breeding

Substantial improvement in the quality of America's—and the world's—dogs in the post-war period as the result of advances in the science of artificial breeding, is predicted by the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

Fewer but better dogs will service large numbers of females at great distances and poorly accessible places. A trained individual, most likely a veterinarian, will effect the transfer of the life-element of the desired great sire from its airmail tube to the selected female without risk of injury or death to either animal in shipment.

The Center is planning as soon after the war as possible an exchange of the sperm of the most desirable studs in the United States with those of Great Britain, Russia and perhaps other countries.

The war interrupted a number of artificial breeding experiments in progress both here and abroad but these are expected to be resumed with the cessation of hostilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivian H. Neuman are being congratulated on the birth of a 7-pound son, Larry Duane, on May 20, 1946, at Medina Hospital. The new arrival is also being welcomed by an older brother, Donnie. Mrs. Neuman is the former Jewell Riff.

Mrs. Mary Cook has received word of the promotion of her son, A. J. Cook to Staff Sergeant at his station in Tokyo, Japan. A. J. has received rapid promotion, advancing from his first rating of Private First Class last December and in five months time rising to his present rating.

Tax Assessor-Collector James R. Duncan spent the early part of the week over the County on business. He reports crops in fine shape everywhere in the County and prospects excellent for a big harvest in oats, corn, maize and broom corn if the hail and windstorms that have been devastating other areas miss this section. He reports a big Irish potato crop being shipped out of Devine and Natalia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Windrow and sister, Miss Lucille Newton, and niece, Miss Mary Lynn Murrill, are leaving Sunday on a six-weeks vacation tour over the Western and Northwestern States and part of Canada. They will go the Southern route to California, visiting San Diego, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, and Yosemite National Park. From there they plan to drive to Seattle, Washington, where they will take a boat to Canada. The return home will be by way of Glacier National Park and Yellowstone National Park, and other sites of interest enroute.

TAKES UP NEW CALLING

Prof. J. G. Barry, for a number of years Superintendent of Hondo Public Schools but resigned to volunteer into the armed service for the war, and who has been discharged with the rank of Major, was a caller at this office last week during the last hour's rush to get to press. Following his separation from the Army Prof. Barry followed a course he had long contemplated and entered the insurance business. He plans to spend much of his time in Hondo and offers his services to our readers in a business card elsewhere in this paper. We predict a prosperous career for him in his new sphere, but regret the loss of so able a school man to the teaching profession.

A card from Austin, Texas, Wednesday announces that memorial services for Willford B. Williams will be held Sunday, May 26th, at 3:15 P. M., at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 1918 East Avenue, Austin, Texas.

Young Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Williams, formerly of Hondo, but now of the Capital city, was reported missing in action on September 10, 1944, somewhere in the Pacific. He had been in active service since March, 1943, and at the age of 19, was an Aviation Radioman, third class in the U. S. Navy at the time his loss was reported.

SESSION OF DISTRICT COURT CALLED THURSDAY

On call of District Judge K. K. Woodley, a session of District Court for Medina County was held Thursday, May 23rd, at which time a jury commission, composed of W. J. Nester of Hondo, August Schott of Castroville, and G. D. Whitfield of Devine, was appointed. The commission will select the Grand and Petit Jurors to serve for the June Term, 1946, which opens by operation of law on June 3rd.

Court was still in session in hearing of civil suits as we went to press Thursday afternoon. Suits heard Thursday morning were as follows:

Guadalupe Garza Martinez vs. Eduardo B. Martinez, divorce. Judgement for plaintiff for divorce and costs.

Ex Parte: Gene Shelton, a minor, and Ernest T. Wiemers and wife, Nina Wiemers, adoption. Application for adoption granted.

Otto C. Marquis, Individually and Next Friend of Otto C. Marquis, Jr., a minor, vs. Medina Electric Cooperative, Inc., damages. This suit grew out of injuries received by young Marquis when he figured in a car accident with an employee of the Cooperative. Attorney R. J. Noonan was appointed guardian ad litem. Judgement was in accordance with a settlement agreement, by which the plaintiffs received damages to the extent of $1262.65 and the defendants to pay the costs of Court.

CITY GETS DDT SPRAYING FROM AIR

Continuing its campaign to prevent an outbreak of polio in Hondo, the City was treated to a spraying with DDT from the air Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning. The insecticide was to have been distributed over the city Monday but was delayed because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Approximately 6400 pounds of DDT was dispensed from the air over the corporate limits of Hondo including the Navigation Village. The work was done by Jimmy Thomas of an aerial cron dusting organization in Crystal City, at a cost of approximately $864.00 to the City. It is hoped by city officials and health authorities that a second spraying will not be necessary.

The City officials, members of the Hondo Chamber of Commerce, Medina County Health Unit, and of the Aguinaldo Pruneda American Legion Post, who last week issued timely precautions in the prevention of a polio epidemic, urge continued vigilance and effort in the clean-up and sanitation campaign for the city. City ordinances will be enforced and Wallace Mills, of the Health Unit, will begin a tour of inspection in the interest of the campaign. Those people whose homes or places of business are within 200 feet of the City Sewer line are especially urged to connect at once.

A HOMETOWN ENDORSEMENT OF J. T. ELLIS, Jr. CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

FELLOW CITIZENS

We are proud of our fellow citizen, J. T. Ellis, Jr., and we, the undersigned citizens of Weslaco, want the people of the Weslaco Community and our neighbors of the 15th Congressional District to know that we are honored, and that it is our privilege to be the first of the first of the many "Ellis for Congress" groups to be formed over the district.

As the associates and neighbors of "J. T." we feel that we are in the best position to honestly judge him.

"J. T." has been a leading citizen of our city for over ten years, and a citizen of the Rio Grande Valley for twenty years. Except when he was serving our Nation in the front lines of battle in both World War I and World War II, he has devoted his unusual ability as a successful business man and an unselfish leader to building our city of Weslaco to its present importance.

As a sound businessman, as a generous church supporter, as a distinguished battle veteran of two wars, as a Rotarian, as leading civic worker and as a champion of the rights of all men and races, regardless of wealth or social position, we believe he is the best qualified candidate to give the 15th Congressional District the high quality of equal representation which we must have in Congress if our nation is to meet the complex problems of the coming years.

We sincerely urge our fellow citizens of the district to support "J. T." in his unselfish willingness to become a Congressional Candidate and we hereby pledge him our active loyal support.

MEDINA HOSPITAL TO HAVE 15TH BIRTHDAY

On June 2nd, 1946, the Medina Hospital of Hondo will be fifteen years old. Started by two intrepid graduate nurses, Mrs. Alice Bertreaver and Mrs. Mary Cook, during the depression years as a project to help the people of this County, the Medina Hospital has grown from a small one-story frame-stucco building to an establishment with 30 rooms and two-story wings, and in February of this year a new single-story wing was completed.

The addition, constructed by Baugh and Scott of San Antonio, is 38' 6" x 37' 10" in size, located on the East end of the building, and is devoted solely to surgery and delivery rooms and quarters for the doctors. The rooms formerly used for operating rooms in the West end of the building have been converted into patients' rooms, now giving the hospital 15 private rooms, one small 2-bed ward, and an emergency room downstairs. The upstairs wing on the East side, completed in March, 1942, is the living quarters for the owners, Mrs. Bertreaver and Mrs. Cook, and also for the staff of nurses. The West wing upstairs is used by the kitchen help.

The solarium which extended across the East end of the hospital has been changed to a living room and a patient's room. In addition, the operating room, almost double the size of the former surgery, is located on the Northeast corner, has a tile floor and new equipment including powerful overhead castle lights and steam heat facilities. New equipment also includes a water softener unit and a larger automatic sterilizer. Other accommodations making up the new wing are a delivery room, scrub-up room, sterilizing room, dressing room and shower for the doctors, extensive closet space and halls.

GIRL GRADUATE HONORED

Miss Norma Zane Kollman, member of the 1946 graduating class of Hondo High School, was named honoree of a beautifully appointed tea from four to six Thursday afternoon, May 16th, with Mrs. Ben Oefinger as hostess in her home. About forty-five guests called, registering their names in Miss Kollman's memory book.

The reception suite was decorated in pastel spring flowers, sweetpeas, hydrangeas and gardenias predominating. The honoree and the hostess formed the receiving line, while Mrs. H. W. Kollman, mother of the guest of honor, and Miss Dorothy Renken presided over the tea table. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. E. E. Kollman and Miss Mary Ann Noonan.

Miss Kollman wore a red silk jersey afternoon frock with rounded neckline embroidered in vari-colored beads. Gardenias were worn in her hair. Mrs. Oefinger's mesh dress was figured in grey and rust and her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. H. W. Kollman wore a gown of pastel pink silk, figured in black and a corsage of pastel carnations.

The long tea table was laid with a ecrú ellet lace cloth and centered with a round mirror plaque reflecting a crystal bowl of pastel pink and yellow snapdragons. Pale yellow candles burning in crystal holders completed the centerpiece. Refreshments of cake and punch were served. The cake was iced in white and em-bossed with spun-sugar pink and yellow flowers and the honoree's name, "Norma," across the top. The pale yellow napkins also carried the honoree's name. Floral arrangement of the buffet was giant pink hydrangeas in a silver bowl, flanked by slender tapers in silver holders.

A musicale was presented during the tea hours. Piano selections were given by Miss Barbara Lou Rath, Miss Anna Lee Rucker, and Mrs. Noble Van Dyke. Miss Elsie Ziegenbalg played the accordion and Miss Inell Braden was vocal soloist.

"The Sabbath was made for man," says the Lord Jesus. It is a gracious gift of God to give Him spiritual and physical refreshment after six days of hard labor. Work or pleasure that crowds our worship unto the Triune God and saps physical strength is never a gain but always a loss. VERMONT
Green Mountain State

ONE of the few places where people speak of thrift with respect... Vermont, a small state pulling its full share of weight with the rest of the nation and making its own budget meet!

The world has marveled at Vermont's scenic wonders. Many have witnessed the spontaneous explosive splitting of quarry blocks at some of its quarries, where great blocks of granite suddenly snap loose with a sharp report. But the world should know Vermont's people, too. They were first to express constitutional prohibition of all human slavery! They were first in the nation to provide universal manhood suffrage, with voting not dependent upon property, owned or rented, or a specified yearly income.

Vermont always hated slavery, and its legislatures adopted annual resolutions against it. Southern states grew more angry each year. The Georgia legislature requested President Pierce to employ enough able-bodied Irishmen to dig a ditch around Vermont and float "the thing" out to the Atlantic ocean! A Virginia newspaper gravely commented that Vermont was "always foremost in the path of infamy."

Years later, Robert T. Lincoln, son of the Great Emancipator, came to Vermont to make his home at Manchester. A marker now stands on the lot in Bennington where William Lloyd Garrison lived, and where he edited the "Journal of the Times" early in the 19th century. Also, Bennington was the birthplace of John F. Winslow, builder of the "Monitor," the steel ship of Civil War fame.

Vermont is a pleasant place. The climate is cool and the atmosphere dry. The summer season, between frosts, is from 110 to 160 days, depending on location and altitude. Evidences of the ice age still prevail in rounded and grooved ledges, polished rock surfaces, ice-borne boulders and great deposits of unsorted sands, clays and gravels. The range of scenic interest is vast, with mountains and broad valleys, river and lakes, and abundant forests. There will often be 10 feet of snow-cover in the central part, and 34 to 46 inches of rainfall through the year. Lake Champlain is 120 miles long, and there are many others, including Lake Willoughby, Lake Dunmore and Silver Lake.

From Mount Mansfield, 4,393 feet high, there is an excellent view of the White Mountains and Adirondacks, with Lake Champlain visible 30 miles away. Vermont has over 900 peaks with an altitude of 2,000 state and each section has its scenic attractions. Vacationists find almost every kind of allure in Vermont, including hiking on the famous Long Trail and horseback riding on the thousand-mile bridge trail system.

feet or over. There are over 400 lakes in the state, and forests and forest parks cover over a half-million acres. Hunting, trapping and fishing are always available to the rugged outdoor man.

There are recreational activities in Vermont all through the year—skiing into April, fishing and other vacationing from May to late fall, and touring and hunting to the opening of the winter season. Tourists penetrate to every corner of the Vermont is pre-eminently a dairy state, with beef, milk, butter and cheese as important products. It is also well suited to diversified farming and fruit growing. Many sheep are raised there, and it was in Vermont that the Morgan horse was developed. Both in quality and quantity Vermont leads all maple-producing states with a normal yield of about 40 per cent of the total. The 35,000 bearing apple trees in the state's orchards yield a product of notable quality.

In industry Vermont is noted for lumber and lumber products, woolen mills, paper-making, marble, granite, slate, lime, asbestos, talc, soapstone, kaolin, ocher and other products. Steel squares were invented in Vermont and are still manufactured at St. Johnsbury.

In recent years a growing number of writers and artists have made Vermont their permanent homes. Others spend a part of the year there. Dorothy Canfield Fisher, who loves her Arlington home, is one of the state's authors. Robert Frost, the poet lives in Shaftsbury.

Chester A. Arthur was the first native Vermonter to become President of the United States, later followed to the White House by Calvin Coolidge of Plymouth. Adm. George Dewey, Levi P. Morton, John Deere, John B. Mansfield, Stephen A. Douglas, John C. Saxe, Joseph Smith, Alphonso Taft, Brigham Young and many other figures in history were born in Vermont.

A Vermont Sugar House

In Poultney, when a lad, Horace Greeley set type in a small print shop. Salmon P. Chase lived and studied law at Randolph. Peacham was the boyhood home of Thaddeus Stevens. Eugene Field, with recollections of his boyhood in Newfane, based several of his poems on local life in Vermont. Few states have produced so many notables in all lines of endeavor as hardy, mountainous Vermont.

Samuel Champlain, French explorer, was the first white man known to have seen any part of Vermont. When coming from Canada, in 1609, he went up the long lake that bears his name. The first settlement in Vermont, though short-lived, was also by the French, when Captain La Motte built a fort and a shrine on Isle La Motte. In 1690, Capt. Jacobus de Warm established an outpost on what is now Chimney Point. In general, however, Vermont was a no-man's land in the 17th and 18th centuries, a mere passageway for French and Indian raiding parties seeking the English farther south and east.

From the earliest days, Vermont gave attention to primary education. The University of Vermont was chartered in 1791. Other institutions for higher education include Norwich university, Northfield, the second oldest military college in the nation; Bennington college; Middlebury college; St. Michael's, Winooski; Trinity, Burlington. There are three normal schools and two junior colleges in the state.

One of the crowning features of Vermont is the province of the Green mountains. Here are found the highest peaks—Killington, Ellen, Lincoln, Camel's Hump, Mansfield and Jay. The physical geography of the state is diversified, however, with the Vermont lowland on the west and much rolling country eastward. The state's geology is complex and extremely fascinating.

Vermont is nicknamed "The Green Mountain State." Its motto is "Freedom and Unity." The state flower is the red clover; state bird, hermit thrush; state song, "Hail, Vermont."

MORTIMER R. PROCTOR

the battle of Bennington.

From 1777 to 1791 Vermont was a completely independent republic. When all the ancient disputes were settled, the state adopted the constitution of the United States and was admitted as the 14th state—the first to be added to the original 13. The capital was established in Montpelier in 1805.

Men of Vermont have a noble heritage, a love of liberty and independence that is deep-rooted, and full appreciation of human rights.

JOHN L. LEWIS STRATEGY

WASHINGTON. — John L. Lewis confided his strike strategy to a friend the other day as follows:

"Before you can get action, you've got to have a crisis. And in any crisis, someone's nerve has got to crack. I always bet that I can hold out longer than the government or the operators. My nerve won't crack first."

GOP CONGRESSMAN
REWARDED

Few congressmen have enjoyed a higher rating at the White House in the last two decades than hard-hitting Richard J. Welch of California, a Republican congressman for 21 years.

Always subordinating party interest to the national welfare, Welch's rugged integrity won him the esteem of both Presidents Hoover and Roosevelt, with Harry Truman equally fond of him.

It is an axiom in congress that when Dick Welch wants something at the White House, he gets it. His last visit, to request Presidential support of another bridge connecting San Francisco and Oakland, was no exception.

Despite opposition from the navy, which contends that expanded aircraft and water-transport facilities in the bay area make a new bridge inadvisable, Welch told Truman that the bridge was imperative. Traffic on the present Oakland bridge, he said, was moving "bumper-to-bumper."

"All we are asking is a public hearing to state our case, Mr. President," said Welch, "but the navy is even opposed to that."

"This is an election year," commented Welch with a grin, "but there are no political considerations in the bridge project as far as I am concerned."

Truman may have been thinking of Welch's unflinching battle to support OPA as he replied:

"In your case, Dick, it wouldn't make any difference to me whether there were any political considerations in it or not."

CONGRESS RETREATS

It isn't often that the public rises up in protest so quickly and effectively as over the recent cutting of price control in the house of representatives. However, the "Save OPA" mail drive on congress now appears to have scored a bull's eye. Senate opposition to crippling house amendments is mounting and anti-price control senators one by one are beginning to yell "uncle!"

Despite this, OPA Boss Paul Porter and Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles are awaiting the senate showdown with crossed fingers. What they fear is a compromise senate bill—a watered-down, but still dangerous, version of the house "repeal" measure.

Porter warned of this in a recent secret conference with Bowles and other top officials when the question was raised as to whether the outspoken Bowles should continue his cannonading for air-tight OPA legislation. Bowles himself felt that it might be smart for him to pull punches temporarily.

Porter, however, vigorously advised the contrary.

"This is no time to trim our sails or for you to let down, Chester," he told Bowles.

MISSOURI POUND CAKE

President Truman's first cousins, Nellie and Ethel Noland of Independence, Mo., are writing quite a few letters these days about the famous "pound cake" which long has been a favorite delicacy of the Truman and Noland families.

Last Christmas, while Truman was in Independence for the holidays, one of the Noland sisters' cakes was featured on the menu. A writer for the Associated Press, apparently inexperienced in the kitchen, obtained the recipe and published it. Later housewives throughout the country tried their hand at preparing the cake. But something was wrong. Scores of letters began pouring into the Noland mailbox at 216 North Delaware street. Housewives were having kitchen difficulties.

A check revealed the Associated Press reporter had failed to include in the recipe one pound of butter—necessary for good results in baking the cake.

Perhaps the AP reporter was patriotic and didn't think butter should be used in cake in view of the edible fats shortage. Anyway, President Truman's cousins have been writing letters ever since.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Eighty-five professors at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton school of finance and commerce were polled regarding the continuation of OPA. Eighty-one signed a petition urging continuation of price controls. . . . Telegrams were sent to clothing manufacturers recently by the civilian production administration asking a report on the men's suit shortage. Reply was that the government's goal of 28 million men's suits will be almost met. . . . If that helps any.

MOTION picture versions of Shakespeare's plays have never been very successful, but Laurence Olivier's new production, the $2,000,000 technicolor "Henry V," is likely to break records. It introduces the Bard in a new light—as an action writer with a flair for the "boy meets girl" theme. Henry was a madcap youngster, a superb warrior, a great lover and a conscientious king—what more could anyone ask, especially with talented Olivier in the role? Since England was at war when the picture was made, the terrific battle scenes were shot in Ireland, where they wouldn't have to stop work every time a plane roared overhead.

Did you know that Burgess Meredith has "the perfect American voice"? According to more than 150 tests made by David O. Selznick,

BURGESS MEREDITH

he has, so he'll record the legend of Pearl Chavez which is the five-minute prologue of "Duel in the Sun." It's a United Artists release.

The movies are dicker with Isabel Manning Herson regarding a picture to be based on her Mutual program, "Land of the Lost." Regarded as the finest show for children on the air lanes—certainly it's one of the first five—it has caught on so well that a comic book in color based on it will appear next month. Parents rest easy when Junior's listening to "Land of the Lost."

David Bruce, who played opposite Deanna Durbin in "Lady on a Train" and opposite Yvonne De Carlo in "Salome," has been signed by Comet Productions to co-star with Cleatus Caldwell, ex-wife of Ken Murray, in "Miss Television." Mind you, Miss Caldwell is a "co-star," despite the fact that "Miss Television" marks her screen debut! How times have changed!

Now that "Forever Amber" production has been postponed, we're likely to be involved once more in a discussion of who'll play "Amber." Apparently the little English girl, Peggy Cummins, isn't right for it after all. Right now a vote for Paulette Goddard is registered. In "Kitty," which has a somewhat similar story, she proved that she could do right well by the role.

The picture based on the life of Glenn Miller will get under way late this summer. It's said that Fred MacMurray won't play Major Miller because of his resemblance to band leader Tex Beneke, so why not give Dick Powell the role?

"Hopalong Cassidy" is getting ready to ride again. After an absence of two years from the screen Bill Boyd's reading "The Devil's Playground." He'll have a new leading lady, Elaine Riley, a former fashion model in New York; she's red headed and Irish as they come. He's borrowing her from Paramount.

If you're one of the many who yearn to go to Mexico, don't miss the new March of Time, "Tomorrow's Mexico." Not only will you see the gay night spots and the fiestas and religious festivals; the progress against illiteracy and the political development of the country are dramatized; the beautiful modern cities are shown as the average tourist might not see them.

Al Schmid, blind ex-marine hero of Guadalcanal, had never held a golf club in his hands before he worked in MGM's Pete Specialty, "Playing by Ear." But after some coaching by Bob Anderson he connected squarely with the ball on the second swing.

ODDS AND ENDS—"Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou" take over during the summer months for the CBS "Ginny Simms Show." . . . Gary Merrill of "The Right to Happiness" has been given a new name by his wife; she calls him the poor man's Humphrey Bogart. . . . Johnny Desmond, NBC's singing star, is still popular in England though he hasn't been heard there for about a year; recently a British press representative called him wanting news—said his readers were demanding to know what Desmond was doing now. . . . Milena Miller, singer on the show replacing the Bing Crosby program, is called the most beautiful girl in radio.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Wedding Parties Need Light, Dainty Types of Food

If you're serving at any of the wedding parties, see that all service is of the finest. It's time to bring the silver out of the mothballs, and to see that the best china is washed gently to sparkle on the wedding reception or breakfast table.

Weddings always pose an interesting refreshment problem because we do not face them every day. With shortages still very much evident, the problem is bound to be just a bit thick, especially if you happen to be personally involved.

Then, too, if the wedding happens to be a big affair with showers and parties preceding the big event, most of us are apt to run out of ideas pretty quickly. For this reason, I've made up menu suggestions for different types of wedding refreshments, including the bridal shower. Everything is on the simple side, but if you choose, you can make it quite an event by garnishing the food attractively, as suggested.

Menu I.—Bridal Shower
Frosted Sandwich Loaf
Molded Salad Relishes
Raspberry Cream Parfait
Dainty Cookies Coffee
The dessert is an easy to fix number provided you're stocked with fresh berries, ice cream and some currant jelly.

Raspberry Cream Parfait.
(Serves 6)
1/2 cup currant jelly
1 cup raspberries
1/2 cup whipping cream
Vanilla ice cream
Beat the jelly with a fork, fold in raspberries. Add whipped cream. Fill parfait glasses with alternate layers of the jelly mixture and ice cream. Garnish with whole berries.

Menu II.—Spinster Luncheon
Consomme with Lemon Slices
Creamed Chicken with Toasted Almonds
Orange Salad Thin Melba Toast
Individual Meringues with Ice Cream

Mints
How to do: Prepare consomme ahead of time; heat when ready to serve. For casserole, use large pieces of white meat, rich cream sauce and top with slivered, toasted almonds. The orange salad may be molded; it's good with a honey french dressing. Tint the meringues pink and serve with ice cream or whole, sugared berries.

LYNN SAYS

Taste Teasers: For a summery touch to a consomme noodle soup, add 1 chopped hard-cooked egg to each four servings.

Sprinkle croutons with grated, nippy cheese and serve them with soup or vegetable juice as a first course.

Two tablespoons of chopped pickle relish adds zip to any macaroni or noodle and cheese dish. Add the relish before baking. Season steaks with a sauce made by mixing chili sauce, grated onion, Worcestershire sauce and a bit of mustard together. Pour over the steak just before it finishes broiling.

Halves of canned peaches filled with cream cheese mixed with chopped bits of ginger or slivered almonds are delicious served on a bed of greens.

Sprinkle grated cheese on tomato juice before serving for a nippy taste.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENUS

Salmon Souffle
Lemon White Sauce Broccoli
Parsleyed Potatoes
Apple Cole Slaw
Bran Muffins Beverage
Strawberry Fluff Pie

Menu III.—Wedding Breakfast.
Iced, diced fruit in Melon Shell
Creamed Sweetbreads or Chicken with Mushrooms
Buttered Asparagus Ripe Olives
Tiny Muffins Endive Salad
Ice Cream Bride's Cake
Beverage Mints

I've found an excellent recipe for creamed chicken which is basic. You may vary it as you see fit, adding pimiento and mushrooms or even substituting sweetbreads, parboiled, for part of the chicken.

Creamed Chicken.

(Serves 6)

1 4-pound chicken or fowl
8 small white onions
1 bay leaf
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup chicken fat, butter or substitute
1/2 cup flour
1 cup chicken broth
1 1/2 cups rich milk

Simmer chicken and onions in boiling water to cover. Add seasonings and cook until tender. Remove chicken from broth and cool. Skim fat off broth and reserve; strain broth, reserving onions and broth. Cut chicken into pieces. Melt chicken fat in top of double boiler, blend in flour and stir in broth and milk. Cook until thickened while stirring.

Add onions and chicken. Heat and season further if necessary. Serve in toast cup or patty shells or large silver casserole.

Menu IV.—Daytime Reception.
Assorted Sandwiches
Chicken Mousse
Shrimp in Tomato Aspic
Oysters or Crabmeat a la Newburg in Patty Shells
Frozen Fruit Salad with Fresh Orange Segments and Berries
Bride's Cake Bisque Tortoni
Decorated Mints Coffee

How to do: Everything in this menu is served cold except the hot oysters or crabmeat dish and the beverage. Prepare these cold things ahead of time while you set the table. Leave the hot dish until last. The bride's cake may be homemade or ordered depending upon the amount of work involved. Many guests will prefer taking the cake home, so it is necessary to serve a dessert like Bisque Tortoni:

Bisque Tortoni.
(Serves 15 to 18)
1 teaspoon unflavored gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup sugar or light corn syrup
1/2 cup cold water
1/4 teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks
1/4 cup crushed macaroons or dry cake crumbs
1/4 cup chopped nut meats
1/4 cup chopped blanched almonds
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in water 5 minutes. Boil sugar, water and salt until syrup spins a thread (230 degrees). Pour slowly over beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool. Fold in macaroons and nut meats. Add whipped cream. Pour into crinkled paper cups, place in freezer tray and freeze.

Note: 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries may also be added for extra flavor and color.

A molded loaf is a good way to serve a main dish at the Shower and Spinster Luncheon. Or, if you prefer, the jellied salad may be molded in a loaf pan and served as illustrated. Parsleyed sauce is in the gravy boat.

Menu V.—Simple Reception.
Finger Sandwiches
Tiny Cakes Dainty Cookies
Bride's Cake Coffee
How to do: Make sandwiches as dainty as possible and wrap in waxed paper to keep moist. Serve everything as beautifully as possible on white damask with silver service.

'Little People' Protest Crippling of OPA

MEMBERS of congress are now reaping a whirlwind of mail from constituents condemning action of the house in passage of the bill crippling OPA so badly that it cannot survive. Members of the senate now considering the measure are receiving mail in a ratio of about 25 to 1 urging that body to correct the house action, and to extend OPA another year without crippling amendments.

Probably the most bitter denunciation of the house action comes from the "Army Times," national weekly newspaper for the United States army, giving congress something to think about. For this paper gives the stand of the fifteen million returning veterans on this important issue of continued government control of prices and critical materials.

The "Army Times" says: "Afraid to dare public wrath by voting against such postwar necessities as emergency housing for veterans, extension of the draft act and continuation of price control, the members of the house have adopted a pattern of cutting the heart out of the laws and leaving only a skeleton and a tombstone bearing the original name. Then after destroying the effectiveness of the laws, they vote a resounding 'aye' ostensibly to provide emergency housing, extension of the draft and continuation of price control."

"Actually, however, most of those congressmen voted against veterans housing, against extension of the draft and against continuation of price control. Nevertheless, on the record they can go before the electorate this fall and insist that they voted on such legislation."

"They are hypocrites at heart."

Inflationary Danger

The newspaper further warned that extension of the OPA price control for at least another year is the only way in which this country can bypass a wild inflationary period and that end of price control now "would make a mockery of the pay raise now pending for the armed services; it would devalue terminal leave pay for enlisted men, decrease the value of mustering-out pay, void the worth of a possible early bonus and engulf the civilian wages of newly returned veterans." Accusing both Democrats and Republicans, "Army Times" placed the major blame on the GOP which, it said, "is seeking to capitalize on the petty discomforts which all of us suffered during four years of OPA control."

"It is a vicious and stupid attempt to gain power at the cost of the little people . . . the workers, the veterans, the masses. We've all rallied at OPA," the editorial says, "we've cursed it for everything." Still, in the long run, it would be hard to find an American family of low or moderate means that wouldn't vote to continue price control if the vote was theirs.

"Unfortunately, however, they delegated their vote to a bunch of job-seeking politicians who now prove themselves to be representatives, not of the people, but of power-conscious political machines and mercenary and selfish interests."

And this reporter would like to point out that during consideration of the full employment bill certain senators led by Senator Taft of Ohio declared it to be the policy of the government that they could not guarantee anybody anything in the economic field, particularly employment.

Protect Dealers

They were very careful, however, to place in the OPA bill an amendment which guarantees to manufacturers and dealers a profit on each item of manufacture and prohibits the OPA from requiring wholesalers and retailers from absorbing part of the higher costs.

If government as a matter of policy cannot guarantee jobs for workers then how can it guarantee profits for industry? It may be that the senate will eliminate these two features of the OPA bill as it passed the house, although opposition to OPA in both house and senate would like to see the bill so loaded down with inequities and so impossible of administration that the President would be forced to veto the measure . . . then they could pass the onus on to him as they have done in the draft extension bill.

Many business men are now becoming alarmed at the inflationary features of the house OPA bill. They foresee disruptions of their budgets for operations. Their buying prices getting out of hand and their wage costs unstable. As a result of this chaos they see a continued shortage on commodities instead of full production, as flamboyantly predicted by the National Association of Manufacturers. The N. A. M. is flatly contradicted by Frank Rathje, president of the American Bankers' association. He does not believe higher prices would boost production.

Even Crops Can Tell You When They're Hungry

A farmer with the

"know-how" can spot,

at a glance, evidence of starvation in his growing

crops, and remedy

it. You will find it profitable to learn the signs of "hidden hunger" in your

crops, whether you are selling them as cash crops

or using them as feed for livestock. Once you have learned to understand the "sign language" of plants,

you can often tell just by looking at a growing plant

whether it is drawing from the soil all the nitrogen,

phosphorus, potash and other elements it must have

to produce healthy, high-yielding crops.

A deficiency in these essential elements will affect the plant's appearance in some way which will tell you just what is short. Here are some of the "hunger signs" in corn, for example:

- Yellowish-green leaves and stunted growth indicates nitrogen deficiency.
- Tips of leaves gummed together indicates calcium deficiency.
- Purple color in leaves indicates phosphorus deficiency.
- Bottom leaves dead; yellow striping between veins of upper leaves (condition known as "white-bud") indicates zinc deficiency.

- Scorching along the edges of leaves indicates potash deficiency.
- Regular yellowish-white stripes on leaves indicate magnesium deficiency.

Other crops also show "hunger signs" which can be recognized at a glance if you know their sign language. Your county agent or vocational agricultural teacher can tell you about them or advise you about books or bulletins which give detailed information. Because of their thorough understanding of soil and crop conditions in your district, they are the men to answer your questions. Both are ready and able to help you. They know the signs of crop malnutrition and can give you valuable advice.

Ringworm in Cattle causes irritation and loss of weight. Indications of this parasite disease are circular patches on the skin, usually on the head and neck, which soon become denuded of hair. Small blisters and scaly yellow crusts appear, with moderate itching. Colorado A. & M. College suggests the removal of crusts with soap and lard, then painting the area with acetic acid, sulphur ointment, or iodine once a day.

BETTER FARMERS FROM OUR HIGH SCHOOLS

by E. J. Johnson
Federal Agent, Agricultural Education

By training the farmers of tomorrow in new farming methods, vocational agriculture is doing much to assure America the most productive and progressive agriculture in the world.

Teachers of vocational agriculture have worked for almost thirty years to prepare youth for the practice of better farming. Over 8000 U. S. high schools now have vocational agriculture departments. Broad courses of study are offered to in-school farm boys, and short, intensive courses are open to farmers of all ages. Many schools operate farms or observation plots in which students are able to practice what they are taught. The program is productive as well as instructional.

In the Pacific and Intermountain regions, vocational agriculture is taught to 30,000 high school boys. 64 high schools in these areas operate farms totaling 2,546 acres. The 1945 production record of the school farms and of students on their home farms is a tribute to the skill and the spirit of both the young farmers and their teachers. In 1945, vocational agriculture students in the Pacific and Intermountain regions produced 9,000 beef cattle, 11,400 dairy cattle, 19,500 sheep, 44,800 hogs, 58,000 chickens, 40,000 turkeys, and raised over 25,000 acres of field crops, fruits and vegetables.

NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS—AND YOURS
Right Eating Adds Life to Your Years—and Years to Your Life

Worth thinking about:

Consider that common little word a-n-d. It usually joins things together, but now and then we use it to separate things which should not be separated.

Strawberry-shortcake is a homely example of our meaning. It's eaten everywhere... it has two parts... but no one ever separates that satisfying combination in word or thought. You'd never think of saying strawberry and shortcake.

So it is with many combinations which cannot exist separately. There's agriculture-industry and the livestock-meat industry, for example. These combinations cannot be split into separate sections, because all parts of each are dependent on the others. The production of livestock and the preparation and distribution of meat are as inseparable as strawberry-shortcake. When producers prosper, meat packers prosper. When one suffers constant loss, the other must suffer also. Those of us in the livestock-meat industry have mutual interests, and we work together toward a common goal.

Ratty Arithmetic: One rat eats about 150 pounds of corn per year. It costs you as much to keep 10 rats as to keep 17 laying hens. Those 17 layers could produce 200 eggs each, at 36¢ per dozen, which would bring you $102. For 10¢ you can poison those rats. Then, you can feed the corn to your hens and collect the difference of $101.90.

EDITOR'S COLUMN

You who raise and feed livestock know as well as I do that the problems of the livestock-meat industry are usually mighty complicated. Naturally, I am always interested in what others have to say about our problems, especially in the press or over the radio.

During the recent meat strike, for instance, I was impressed with the effort that was made to place both sides of the question before the public. On the other hand, I was disturbed, on several occasions, by statements made by people who either did not know all the facts, or who ignored them—people whose words consisted of part-truths and their own biased opinions.

To my way of thinking, all of us should consider all the facts that are available if we are to form a fair opinion on any subject. And so, it seems to me especially important that ranchers and farmers have the fullest factual understanding of every part of the livestock-meat industry. Now I don't pretend to know all there is to know, and you probably have many facts that I lack. But from long experience in this business we have learned many things which might help clear up certain doubts and questions you may have in your mind.

If there are things about our business that you aren't sure about, we would appreciate hearing from you. We will reply with whatever facts we have. I am sure that our correspondence will make for a better mutual understanding of our common problems.
